2.4.1 Ballast water information

Ships with ballast water from ports that are considered a high risk for introduced marine species and that have not exchanged water ballast in mid ocean are now forbidden to discharge this ballast into Australian waters (within 12 nautical miles of the coast). Vessels that do not need to discharge ballast in Australian waters are exempt from these requirements.

The ballast water decision support system (BWDSS) is a computer-based application that has been developed to assist master's with the decision as to whether they are required to complete an ocean exchange of ballast prior to arrival. Masters and agents can access the program by inputting details of where ballast was taken, and the program will decide on the data provided if this ballast is high risk and if ballast management is required.

2.5 Customs (Border Force)

Vessels arriving from overseas must submit the required documentation 96 hours prior to the nominated date of arrival. If the voyage from the last port is likely to take less than 96 hours, the following timeframes will apply –

72 hours or more but less than 96 hours – submit documentation 72 hours prior

48 hours or more but less than 72 hours – submit documentation 48 hours prior

24 hours or more but less than 48 hours – submit documentation 24 hours prior
