Definitions

A major amendment is defined as an amendment to the protocol or any other supporting documentation, that is likely to affect to a significant degree:

- the safety or physical or mental integrity of the participants of the trial
- the scientific value of the trial
- the conduct or management of the trial
- the quality or safety of any investigational medicinal product used in the trial.

A minor amendment is defined as changes to the details of research that have no significant implications for participants or for the conduct, management or scientific value of the study and can be regarded as minor amendments. (Sometimes referred to as "administrative amendments"). These amendments do not require review by a full HREC and can receive approval outside of scheduled HREC meeting. Examples as follows:

- Correction of typographical errors in the protocol or other study documentation
- Amended contact details for the sponsor or project staff
- Appointment of new support staff
