

The Road to Buying Your First Car

Attain your license by passing the written, digital and in person tests and by completing your logbook.

Research what car is best suited to you based on its price, size, age, and quality.

Make the purchase from a trusted dealer, in a safe and public place.

Find the car and complete necessary checks to make sure you're getting what you paid for.

Purchase new registration or transfer the cars exiting registration from the past owner.

Research the which type of insurance is best suited to protect yourself from incidents on the road.

Create a budget to prepare for regular expenses such as fuel, rego, and your insurance premium, as well as unexpected costs such as repairs.
